

Aerialscapes
William Olguin

Exhibition Duration: August 18 - September 29
Opening Reception: September 13 5-7 pm

The Hotel Congress and Art in the Lobby are proud to present an exhibition of all new black and white photography by William Olguin. This work provides a unique perspective on Southern Arizona and its textures by capturing visual information from above. Olguin uses this aerial method to capture rarely viewed scenes and environments revealing a fresh viewpoint of Tucson and its surrounding areas to the viewer. From freeways to environmental wastelands, his "aerialscapes" are very effective in capturing the diverse landscapes and optical character of Tucson area locales from his breathtaking visual angles. Undoubtedly viewers from tourists to long time Tucsonans respectively will enjoy these highly detailed over sized photographs.

William Olguin is a Tucson native, who enjoys taking photographs and spending time with his wife and 3 daughters. Olguin is best known as a lifestyle and commercial photographer, specializing in portrait, automotive and fashion. He is well known for his unique style of energetic black and white imagery.
